YACHTING.

During the Christmas holidays Captain Smith had an enjoyable cruise in his smart little vessel, the Katy. Leaving Largs Bay early on Sunday morning, December 29, the vessel shaped a course for Stansbury, which was reached after a smart run. On the following Tuesday Captain Smith got under way for Port Vincent, which was reached the same afternoon. After a short stay there the little vessel was shaped for Port Adelaide, reaching her destination during New Year's Day. Captain Smith and his party were favoured with fine weather throughout the cruise, and spent a very enjoyable time during the three days they were away. There were a number of other yachts away, including the Doris, in which the owner was accompanied by his wife; and the Magic, in which a fairly large party had a good time.
