COVER PHOTO: Commodore W Fisher's REVERIE at anchor on Opening Day 1901. Designed by Fife of Fairlie, this 12.2 m (40') centreboard sloop was built by Alex McFarlane in 1898. She won her first race in a sail off after a tie with TERN, and went on to be one of the Squadron's principal racing yachts during the first decade of this century. A photo of her fully rigged appears on page 9 of the Squadron's publication, "The First 100 Years".
